I Felt confident that I had chosen a great law firm the first time I called this company. First impressions are very important and that starts with who ever answers the phone, this sets the tone for what is to follow. From that point they assured me that they would do their best for me. They kept me informed of what was going on with my case, returned my phone calls and answered my emails. I was treated professionally at all times. They understood my specific business and needs. They were personal and that shows me they cared about my case. They projected confidence that they were capable of doing a great job for me. The case is over and they are still in contact with me. PERSONAL CARE. . . . .
